THE GOETHE- INSTITUT

YOUR PARTNER FOR GERMAN

The Goethe-Institut is active around the world as the official cultural institute of the Federal Republic of Germany. We promote knowledge of the German language and foster international cultural cooperation.

A GLOBAL NETWORK

The Goethe-Institut operates 159 institutes in 98 countries, including 12 institutes in Germany, and cooperates with partner organizations at many other locations. As a result, the Goethe-Institut has more than 1,000 points of contact worldwide.

EXPERTISE IN GERMAN

We have 65 years' experience in teaching German as a foreign language, teacher training and developing curricula, examinations and course materials. At the Goethe-Institut you're always in good hands – whether you're learning German for your career or in preparation for university studies, or just for personal interest. Our teams at the Goethe-Instituts in Germany are there to provide you with service and support whenever questions arise.

LANGUAGE INSTRUCTION FROM EVERY ANGLE

With every course we offer: Individual placement in courses and ongoing advice on the learning process. Support with examination preparation. The option to take an exam and earn a Goethe-Zertifikat. Multimedia resources for self-directed learning in the media resource center. And to round it all off: an exciting cultural and leisure program – so that you really get to know Germany.

GOETHE.DE/GERMANY

OUR LESSONS

LEARNING THE FUN WAY

Before you start your course, we'll assess your prior knowledge of German in a placement test. Our course groups are international, so you'll be speaking German right from the very first lesson.

LESSONS

Our instruction is full of variety and based on communicative methods. You'll practice speaking, listening, reading and writing in realistic situations and with authentic texts. The course contents are up-to-date and based on an intercultural approach. With topics, projects and research centered around life in Germany, you'll explore German culture and get to know the course location.

THE COURSE SYSTEM

Our course system is based on the six levels of the Common European Reference Framework for Languages (CEFR). As a result, the language skills that you acquire in our courses can be objectively assessed and compared against international standards. The course system is consistent and transparent worldwide. After completing a course, you have complete flexibility to continue learning at a Goethe-Institut in Germany or another country, or to enrol for one of our online courses.

BENEFITS

Experience the full diversity of Germany. With a language course at a Goethe-Institut in Germany you will have access to our media resource centers and can take part in the institute's cultural and leisure program. You'll get to know Germany and experience everyday life at your course location.

GOETHE.DE/GERMANY

EXAMINATIONS AND CERTIFICATES

SHOW WHAT YOU CAN DO

Whatever your reasons for learning German – as a professional qualification, as preparation for university studies in Germany or because you need recognized certification of your language level – we offer a certification system with exams at all levels.

EUROPEAN STANDARDS

The German examinations of the Goethe-Institut are based on the levels of the Common European Reference Framework for Languages (CEFR), from A1 to C2.

RECOGNIZED AROUND THE WORLD

Our exams are internationally recognized and are accepted as qualifications by employers and educational institutions around the world. The Goethe-Institut's standard language examinations for adults are assessed by the Association of Language Testers in Europe (ALTE) and have the Q-Mark seal of approval.

THE MEDIA RESOURCE CENTER

LEARNING – YOUR WAY

The media resource centers at the Goethe-Instituts in Germany: Here you can learn, do research, engage in discussions, prepare for classes or study for exams – according to your individual needs. However, this is also a place where you can relax, read a newspaper or converse with other course participants. This makes learning German even more fun. Our media resource centers have four zones:

LEARNING ZONE

The Learning Zone is intended for quiet study. Here you can work by yourself and focus on your learning goals. There are also computers for looking up information or searching for extra materials.

COMMUNICATION ZONE

This zone is intended for communicative activities. It is ideal for discussions, group work, practicing with learning partners, and other shared learning activities.

INFORMATION ZONE

For help using the media resource center, details about activities at the institute, or information about the culture and leisure programs, the Information Zone is the place to go. You can also get advice here on self-learning materials or support in using media or other resources. You'll find information about Germany, current events and new books. Here we also display projects by course participants.

GOETHE.DE/GERMANY

The background image shows a bright, modern interior space, likely a library or media center. On the left, there are wooden bookshelves filled with books. In the foreground, there are several colorful, cylindrical ottomans in shades of blue, purple, and yellow. A dark wooden table is positioned in front of the ottomans, with a book and two small decorative blocks on it. The overall atmosphere is clean, organized, and inviting.

THE MEDIA RESOURCE CENTER

LEARNING – YOUR WAY

RELAXATION ZONE

This is the meeting area. It's a place to unwind, where you can chat informally in a comfortable setting, read a magazine, or just take a coffee break with others.

MEDIA AND MATERIALS

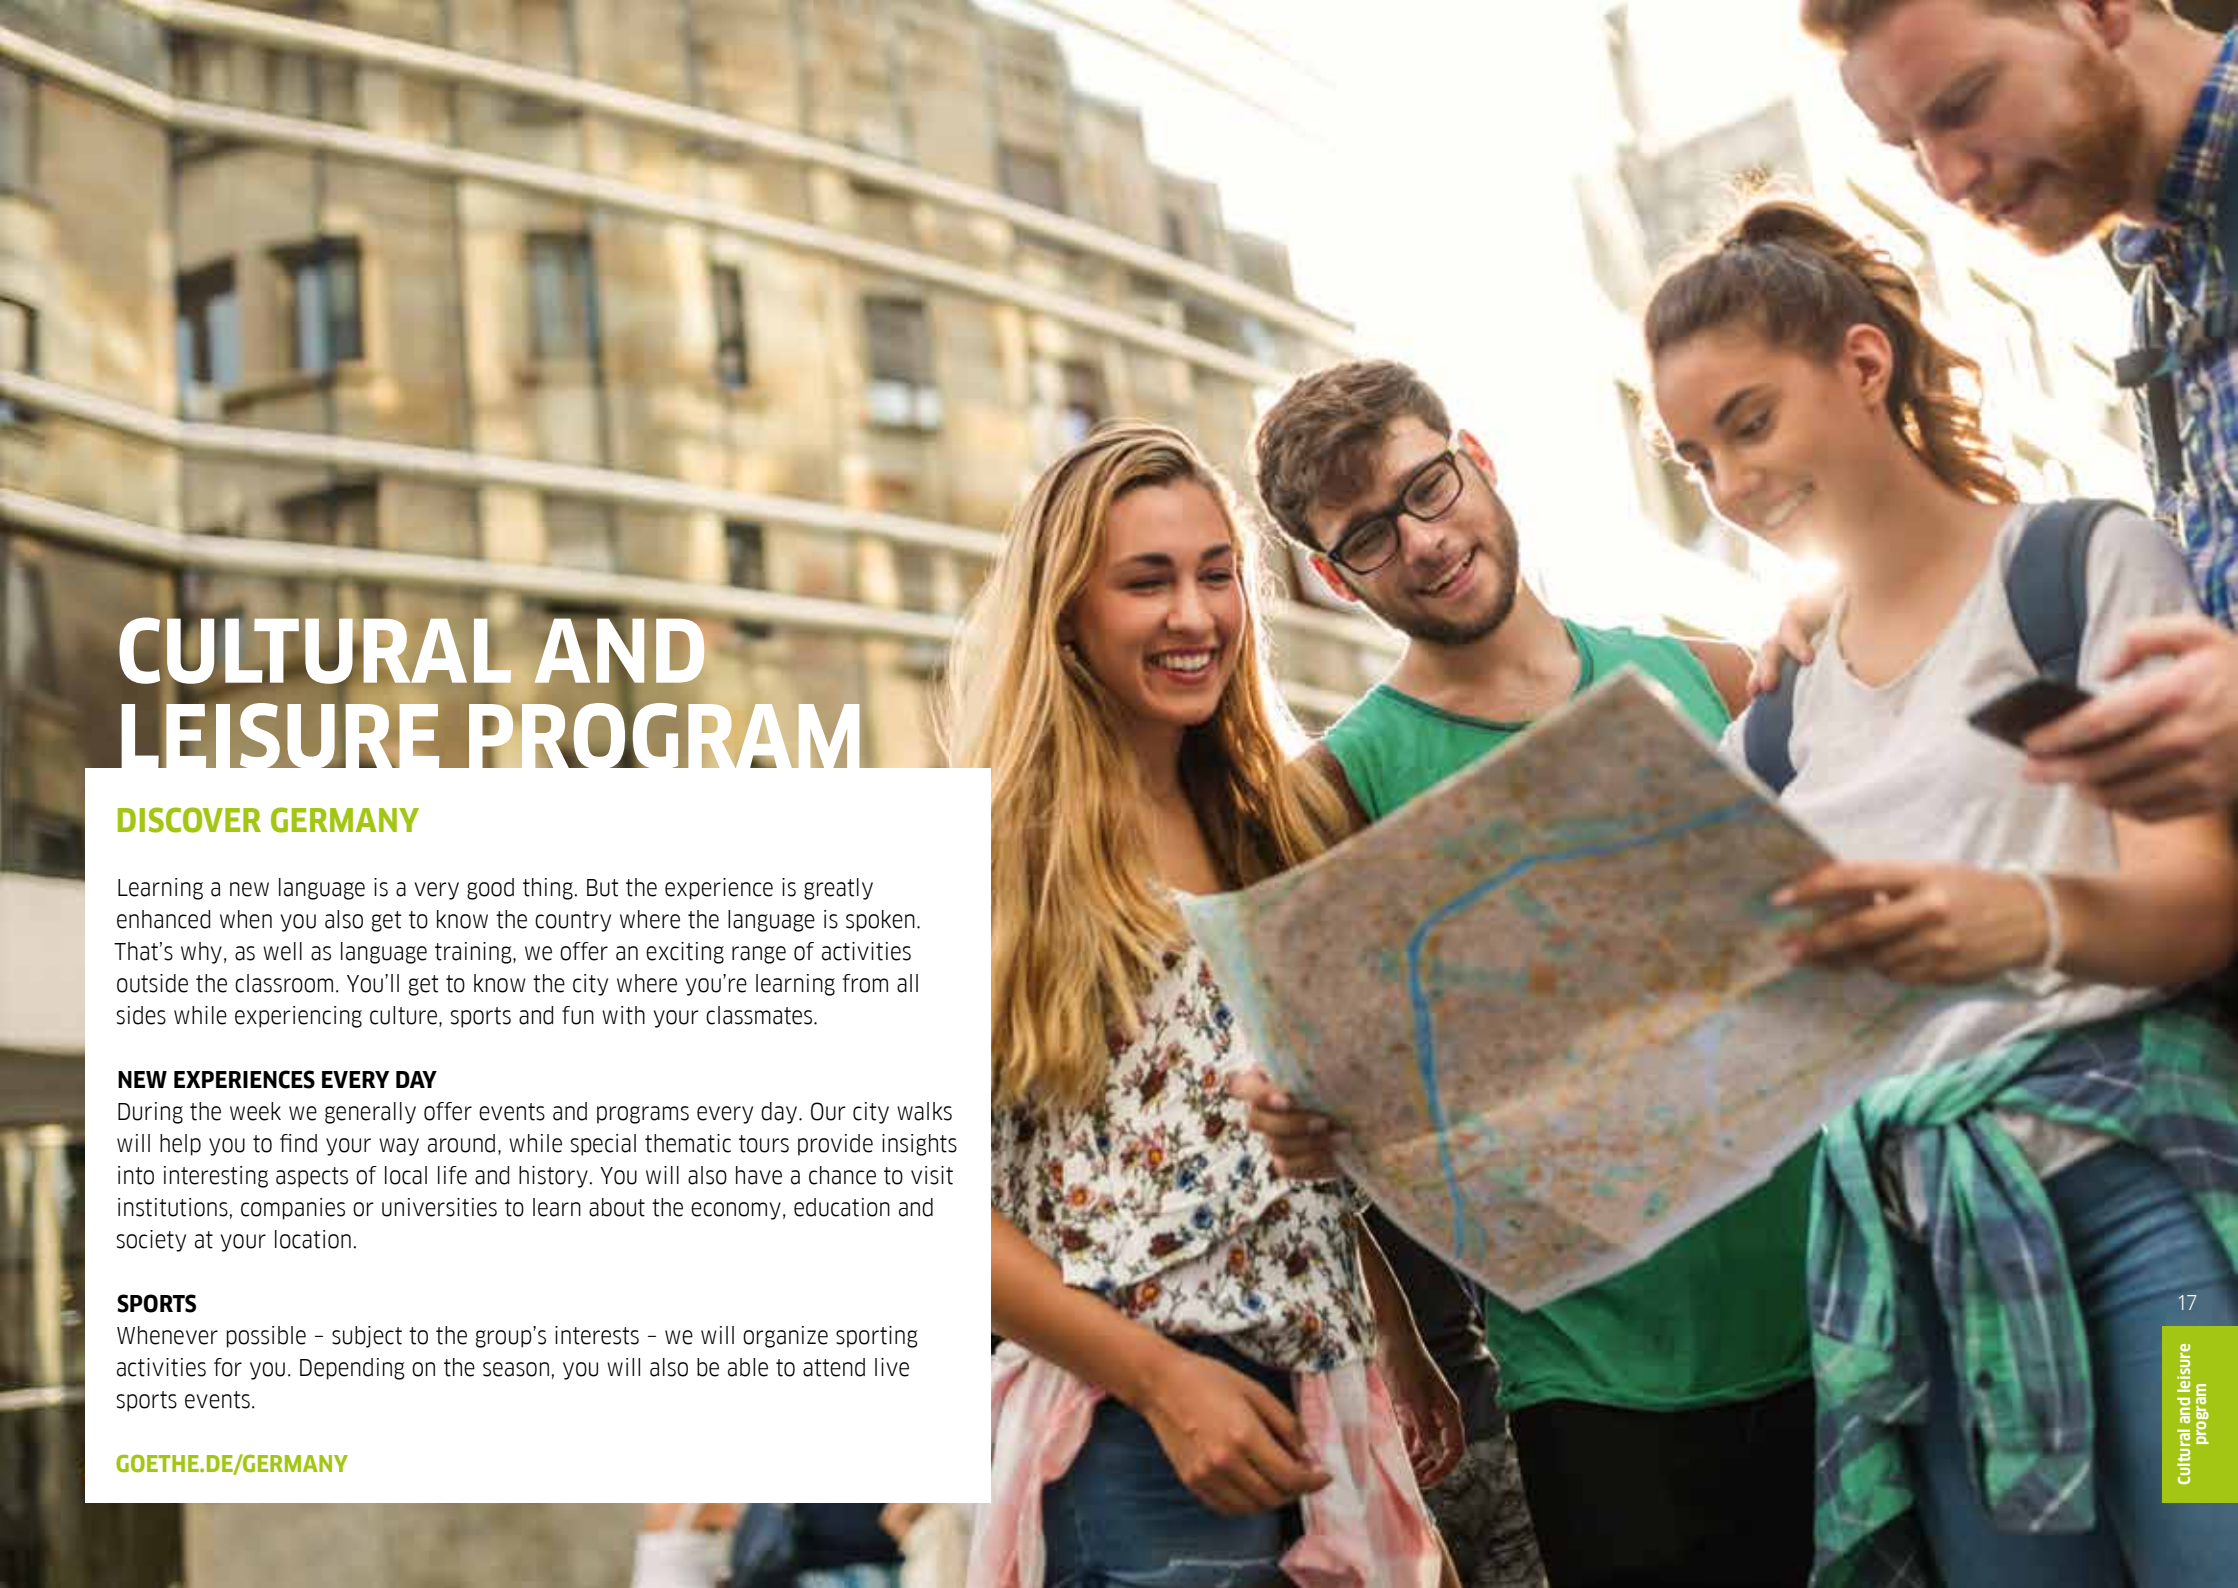

All media resource centers have wifi, PC work stations, and a wealth of media and materials. You'll find:

- DaF practice materials for reading, listening, writing and speaking
- grammar books and textbooks
- dictionaries and reference books
- exam preparation materials
- non-fiction, literary fiction
- daily and weekly newspapers, magazines
- movies and video materials

PERSONAL ADVICE

The staff in the media resource center will be happy to offer support and advice on all of the resources, and help with the selection of suitable practice materials.

A group of four young adults, three women and one man, are gathered outdoors in a city setting, looking at a large map. They are all smiling and appear to be enjoying their time. The background shows a multi-story building with many windows. The lighting is bright, suggesting it's daytime.

CULTURAL AND LEISURE PROGRAM

DISCOVER GERMANY

Learning a new language is a very good thing. But the experience is greatly enhanced when you also get to know the country where the language is spoken. That's why, as well as language training, we offer an exciting range of activities outside the classroom. You'll get to know the city where you're learning from all sides while experiencing culture, sports and fun with your classmates.

NEW EXPERIENCES EVERY DAY

During the week we generally offer events and programs every day. Our city walks will help you to find your way around, while special thematic tours provide insights into interesting aspects of local life and history. You will also have a chance to visit institutions, companies or universities to learn about the economy, education and society at your location.

SPORTS

Whenever possible – subject to the group's interests – we will organize sporting activities for you. Depending on the season, you will also be able to attend live sports events.

EVENING PROGRAMS

We offer attractive evening activities, too, such as theater, concerts and festivals. We're happy to recommend popular local clubs and night spots. Our pub nights in authentic local venues are always a big hit with course participants.

WEEKEND EXCURSION

We organize weekend daytrips for our classes. You can explore the landscapes and natural surroundings of the region on hikes, and visit castles and other highlights on sightseeing excursions. On most of these outings you will have the chance to take a tour and enjoy a meal with the group. Our extracurricular programs also include one-day trips to interesting nearby cities.

YOUR TEAM - ALWAYS READY TO HELP

We want you to feel at home - right from the first day. The team in charge of the cultural and leisure program at your Goethe-Institut will be happy to help with any everyday problems or questions you may have.

BERLIN

WELCOME TO THE CAPITAL

Berlin is more than just the political center of Germany. It is also a magnet for avant-garde culture, an experimental space for urban lifestyles and a hotbed of exciting subcultures.

This is reflected in the sheer diversity of the city's cultural life. Every neighborhood exudes its own fascination with an unmistakable personality and a wealth of history. The flow of inspiration in the arts and the club scene is endless. In addition, the city is home to four universities and four art academies.

Goethe-Institut Berlin is situated in the Berlin Mitte district, near Hackesche Höfe, a thriving cluster of courtyards with a unique blend of housing, artists' studios, cafés and restaurants.

BONN

THE BEETHOVEN CITY ON THE RHINE

Ludwig van Beethoven was born in Bonn in 1770 in a house that is now just one of the city's many museums. An annual international music festival here also bears the great composer's name.

The University of Bonn is one of the largest and most prestigious in Germany. Those studying there, along with the many tourists from Germany and abroad, enjoy the lively theater scene. Another big attraction is the Bonn Summer Festival, which features enchanting outdoor concerts. A boat trip on the Rhine is a wonderful way to see the Rhine valley, a world cultural heritage site, with its many castles and hillside vineyards, and the famous Loreley.

The Goethe-Institut Bonn is centrally located in the modern building of the Language Learning Center at the University of Bonn.

BREMEN

THE LITTLE STATE

The “Free Hanseatic City of Bremen” is Germany’s smallest federal state and its 10th-largest city. In recent years this traditional over-seas trading and shipbuilding city has become an important center for aerospace engineering and the sciences. The Technology Park near the University of Bremen has gained wide renown.

But Bremen has many other claims to fame, such as the medieval city center, Hanseatic brickwork architecture, the ‘Town Musicians of Bremen’, and its distinctive beer. In 2004 the imposing Bremen city hall and the Roland Statue were designated as UNESCO World Cultural Heritage sites.

The Goethe-Institut Bremen is situated on the university campus.

DRESDEN

THE BAROQUE CITY

Splendid baroque architecture, a wealth of artistic treasures and the enchanting surrounding countryside – all of this has earned Dresden, the capital of the Free State of Saxony, the nickname “Florence on the Elbe”.

With its colleges and universities and scientific institutions, Dresden is an important center of education and research. It is one of Germany's most dynamic metropolitan areas, with a business landscape dominated by innovation and leading-edge technologies. Complementing the urban appeal of Dresden are the endless possibilities for recreation and entertainment – day and night.

The Goethe-Institut Dresden is situated in the historical Dresdner Neustadt area of the city, near the Elbe and the baroque city center. The spacious grounds of the institute include a small park.

DÜSSELDORF

THE RHINE METROPOLIS

Düsseldorf is the capital of Germany's most populous state, North-Rhine Westphalia. It is a university city, an international business hub and a major trade fair center. Some 5,000 companies from around the world have offices here, lending the city a cosmopolitan touch. The advertising, design and fashion sectors here generate higher sales than in any other German location.

The Goethe-Institut Düsseldorf is located in a modern building right at the main railway station. This makes it quick and easy to reach destinations all over the Rhine-Ruhr region.

FRANKFURT AM MAIN

THE TRADE FAIR METROPOLIS

Frankfurt, the site of the world-famous Frankfurt Book Fair, has a long tradition of forging strong links between culture and commerce. It is home to 190 publishing houses as well as the headquarters of the European Central Bank and the internationally prominent Frankfurt Stock Exchange.

Whatever your cultural interests – concerts, movies, theater or exhibitions – Frankfurt has plenty to offer. A good place to start is the “Museum Mile”, with the film and architecture museum, the Museum of Applied Arts, the Jewish Museum and the world-famous Städel art gallery.

The Goethe-Institut Frankfurt is situated opposite Frankfurt’s southern station in the attractive Sachsenhausen district, a popular residential area with a lively night life. There are excellent public transportation links to get you from the institute to the city center.

FREIBURG

THE GREEN CITY

Germany's southernmost big city has a wealth of cultural offerings, with eight municipal theaters, cinemas, libraries, numerous museums and galleries competing for visitors. The famous college of music, the "Fest der Innenhöfe" (a musical festival staged in courtyards around the city) and the Zelt-Musik-Festival, which presents more than 100 highly diverse concerts over 19 days, fill Freiburg with beautiful sounds.

The University of Freiburg – designated a University of Excellence – has 28,000 students. Famed as the "green capital", the city is also a trailblazer for ecology and renewable energy.

The Goethe-Institut Freiburg is surrounded by a spacious garden. It is just five minutes from the railway station, the city center with the university and its dining hall, and the Stühlinger student district, where the institute's guesthouse is located.

GÖTTINGEN

THE NOBEL LAUREATE CITY

The historical center of Göttingen, a 1000-year-old city in the heart of Germany, is a delight for visitors, with its beautiful churches, lovingly preserved half-timbered houses forming picturesque squares, and old city walls.

At Georg-August-Universität – founded in 1737 – more than 40 Nobel laureates have worked and done research in the past 100 years. Students, who make up a quarter of the city's population, give Göttingen a youthful and easygoing atmosphere, with numerous student pubs and an exciting cultural scene.

HAMBURG

GATEWAY TO THE WORLD

Hamburg is Germany's second-largest city and also has the status of one of Germany's 16 states. Europe's second-biggest port has earned it the nickname, "Gateway to the world".

More than 1,800 companies engaged in foreign trade are active in the city. At the same time, Hamburg is regarded as a leading media and press center. With some 600 music clubs, publishers and production companies, Hamburg's music and entertainment industry has the infrastructure it needs to keep the tunes coming.

HEIDELBERG

THE ROMANTIC UNIVERSITY CITY

Heidelberg is more than just a leading tourist destination. It is also one of the world's best-known university cities, and attracts students and researchers from all over the world.

There is always plenty to do in Heidelberg. It has a lively concert scene as well as festivals, readings, lectures, dance performances and plays. Heidelberg Castle, one of Germany's most famous ruins, regularly hosts the Heidelberg Schlossfestspiele, an open-air theater festival.

In the narrow lanes of the old town, perfectly preserved baroque buildings are situated amid countless cafés, bars and restaurants.

MUNICH

THE GLOBAL CITY WITH A HEART

The capital of Bavaria is Germany's third-largest city. Munich's sights, from the famed Deutsches Museum of science and technology to Nymphenburg Castle, attract millions of tourists every year. Equally delightful is the city's location in the Alpine foothills, amid mountains, lakes and castles.

With two elite universities, Munich has an excellent standing in the academic world. Shaping the character of today's city are a number of key industries: cars, insurance, IT and media, trade fairs and tourism.

SCHWÄBISCH HALL

A HISTORICAL JEWEL

Schwäbisch Hall brings history to life: The historical center of this former Free Imperial City with a 1000-year history is replete with half-timbered houses from the late Middle Ages.

Schwäbisch Hall is considered the most important regional hub between Stuttgart and Nuremberg. Key factors in the local economy of the town, which has a population of 37,000, are the insurance industry, mechanical engineering and trade. Kunsthalle Würth, an art gallery designed by the Danish architect Henning Larsen, has a reputation extending far beyond this region.

The Goethe-Institut Schwäbisch Hall is conveniently located in the city center. It is housed in a spacious historical building with modern rooms and facilities.

VIENNA

THE CITY OF MUSIC

The Austrian capital is at the heart of Europe. Of the city's 1.8 million inhabitants, more than 170,000 are students. This makes it one of the most important centers of higher learning in the German-speaking world.

Culture is everywhere in Vienna. The historic city center has been designated a UNESCO World Cultural Heritage Site. It features splendid architecture such as St. Stephen's Cathedral, the Burgtheater and the Hofburg, with the Spanish Riding School and the National Library. Vienna is also a leading center for music. INTENSIVE COURSES

INTENSIVE 8

You learn in a group for approximately eight weeks. There are four possible starting dates per year in Freiburg and six in Berlin.

This will enable you to develop your language skills and combine any number of courses to create a systematic language-learning program. At the start of your course we will ask you about your individual learning goals and follow up with ongoing support during the learning process. This results in tight integration of the classroom lessons, self-study activities and practice. At all levels you also have the option of taking one of our examinations, which are recognized around the world.

The Intensive 8 courses are based on the Common European Framework for Languages, and each course builds on the content of the previous one.

SERVICES

- intensive language training from Monday to Friday
- all levels
- placement test before the beginning of the course
- ongoing evaluation of progress and systematic advice on your individual learning path

INTENSIVE COURSES

INTENSIVE 4 PLUS

In the Intensive 4 Plus courses you will receive intensive group instruction in German in the morning. In the afternoon you will then practice the new material in a practice program prepared by your teachers. This will include vocabulary, structures and contents from the morning sessions involving a variety of approaches such as multi-media resources and creative activities. You may also be sent out into the town with special language assignments or just work on your own personal learning objectives. You will have the direct support of an experienced teacher who will provide practical learning tips and corrections.

The Intensive 4 Plus courses are based on the Common European Framework for Languages, and each course builds on the content of the previous one.

SERVICES

- intensive language training from Monday to Friday, with lessons in a small group in the morning and the practice program (all classes) in the afternoon

A photograph of three people, two women and one man, looking at a map spread out on a large rock outdoors. The man, wearing glasses and a blue shirt, is pointing at the map. The woman next to him has blonde hair and is wearing a pink jacket. The woman on the left has brown hair and is wearing a dark jacket. They are all smiling and appear to be enjoying their time together.

INTENSIVE COURSES

GERMAN 50 PLUS

Combine your language-learning holiday with a trip to Schwäbisch Hall, an enchanting city with a medieval feel in one of Germany's most beautiful regions. In the company of course participants from all over the world, you'll get to know Germany and its people while experiencing the many facets of this country. When planning the course, we take into account your requests for special topics and include your learning objectives.

This course is designed for participants in and around the 50+ age bracket. The lessons take place in the morning. In the afternoon you'll meet for various activities such as walks with the group, hikes, tours and museum visits. Of course you'll have the opportunity to make your own plans as well. In the evenings we'll arrange various activities such as attending the theater or concerts, movie nights, wine tastings and get-togethers with Germans. On the weekend we'll go on a daytrip with you.
